

OVER 4,000 AMERICAN PARATROOPERS JUMP TO EARTH NORTH OF PYONGYANG UNDER PERSONAL DIRECTION OF GEN. MAC ARTHUR; MOVE TO CUT OFF FLEEING RED FORCES

Combat-Tested Men Dropped On 2 Key Communications Centers

A 3,000-FOOT DROP

"War Very Definitely Coming to End Shortly," Leader Announces

By Howard Handelman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR OVER NORTH KOREA, Oct. 20.—(INS)—More than 4,000 American paratroopers jumped to earth north of Pyongyang today under the personal direction from the air of General MacArthur in a move to cut off fleeing Red forces.

MacArthur dropped combat-tested paratroopers on two key communications centers 20 miles north of Pyongyang and after watching the drop said triumphantly:

"The war is very definitely coming to an end shortly."

Swarms of paratroopers floated to earth from a 3,000-foot altitude as MacArthur kept a careful eye on the entire operation.

MacArthur directed the dramatic airborne operation—the first of the Korean war—from his personal plane "Scap" hovering above the battle zone.

On the ground at the Pyongyang airstrip MacArthur embraced Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army commander, and told him to use Republic of Korea forces rather than American ground troops now in the Red capital to help trap North Korean forces.

When MacArthur boarded his plane again he was openly triumphant. He went into the cabin and enthusiastically threw his gloves down on his desk and almost shouted:

"Well, wasn't that something?"

His only regret, he said jokingly, was that the North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung, who is believed to have fled to Manchuria, was not brought to the Pyongyang airport to meet him.

The paratroop regiment was carried over the drop area in 80 Fairchild C-119 "flying boxcars." After the troops were dropped the planes immediately returned to Kimp'o airfield near Seoul to pick up artillery.

HAVE PARTS IN CLASS PLAY

ALBERT HARPER

JAMES LEWIS

Harper will portray Dr. Ford-Waterlow, the distinguished London physician whom Elizabeth Barrett consults, in the senior play "The Harrets of Wimpole Street," to be staged at Bristol high school auditorium on Nov. 17th and 18th. A member of the commercial course, he has participated in choir work for several years. He is the son of Albert Harper, Sr., 1217 State road, Croxdon. Lewis, who will be seen in the role of Dr. Chambers, the loyal family doctor, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lewis, Beaver street. A member of the academic section, he has been active in the band, and on the "Rambler" staff. James plans to study engineering after high school work is completed.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Plans to organize subsidiary units were made at the meeting of the Citizens Council for Bucks County Planning and Zoning, in Doylestown.

The time had come, it was decided to branch out into other townships, so that each one would have an interested group of its own to meet and understand its own planning and zoning problems. After a good deal of discussion, it was also decided that programs of value should be scheduled by the central unit, and speakers made available for any other organizations desiring them, such as granges and parent-teacher associations.

Methods of planting pulpwood seedlings were described by means of motion pictures before about 200 members and friends of the Trevoze Horticultural Society in the community house, at Trevoze, by Roy B. Lucy, Jr., a representative of a well-known publishing company. Mr. Lucy also explained how the pulpwood is converted into paper.

Another highlight of the meeting was provided by Mrs. Frederick S. Craven, Churchville, who has made a hobby of mounting pressed flowers. She uses a process that causes the flowers to retain their natural colors.

TO MEET FOR PRAYERS

Members of Bristol Council, No. 906, K. of C., are asked to meet at the late home of Leonard J. Blanche, 1520 Wilson avenue, this evening at eight o'clock, for prayers.

The Formosa issue was settled five weeks ago, and there is no difference about it between him and General MacArthur, President Truman said. He called the general loyal to the Government and the President's foreign policy and said General MacArthur wished to stay in Asia until his job was done.

Despite recent French defeats, the French Assembly, 355 to 215, supported the Government's Indo-China policy. The Vietnamese Premier demanded complete independence from French control.

Former President Hoover said Western Europe lacked the will to fight and advocated that this country halt all further aid "until a definitely united and sufficient European army is in sight." French Foreign Minister Schuman is expected to urge a merger of Europe's armed strength, including that of Western Germany, into a single army and a unified arms production and economy.

CITES RESULTS OF THE MARSHALL PLAN

Dr. Walter H. Mohr, Newtown, Interprets Plan To The Sorosis

LANGHORNE MEETING

LANGHORNE, Oct. 20.—Dr. Walter H. Mohr, professor of history at George School, Newtown, was presented to members of Langhorne Sorosis, yesterday, by Mrs. Lester Ransom, chairman of international relations committee of the club, as the speaker of the afternoon.

Dr. Mohr gave a talk in the local library on the Economic Cooperation Administration, he having been one of 25 who gathered for discussion with Paul Hoffman, the job being to interpret the Marshall Plan to the public through the schools and women's clubs.

He described the Marshall Plan in the words of Marshall: "A plan to work against chaos and disease throughout the world. It is more constructive to save the world with a plan of this kind than to have a whole generation of men killed."

Dr. Mohr is of the belief that if the leaders of the world, at the turn of the century, could have foreseen the chaos in the world today, there would have been no World War I. "However, at the close of that war there could have been a spiritual reaction to save, instead of a physical reaction to destroy. One-tenth of one per cent of the cost of the second World War would have reconstructed the world after World War I. The Marshall Plan has to do now what should have been done then, or been done even in 1933 or 1934. After World War I, in Europe, it took seven years for industrial recovery, and 10 years for agricultural recovery. The Marshall Plan has done as much for Europe in 2½ years. Although recovery in Italy was more complete, the people had to be approached differently, as they believed everything that appeared in the newspapers or that they heard on the radio was merely propaganda." It was stated that troubadours were sent through the streets singing of the Marshall Plan.

According to the speaker, "The most difficult spot is in Germany, where industrial leaders are prone to crush labor to gain selfish ends. The Marshall Plan has to combat this attitude. The cold war is an attempt of two ideologies to convince the world that each is better. The Russians thought in terms of our way of life long before the teachings of Lenin. Communism has augmented their way of thinking. Communism is trying to prove our way of life is not effective. We are trying to prove it is effective by attempting to bring recovery and democracy to Europe. We must wage peace, not war. We must keep Russia off-balance by waging peace, and if we wage peace long enough we will win." Dr. Mohr explained.

Charles Hoeflich Addresses Members of The Bristol Rotary Club

52% IN WOODLAND

Charles Hoeflich, assistant vice-president of the Philadelphia National Bank, told Rotarians, "We have a great Commonwealth but we must constantly remind our citizens of that fact," when he addressed them at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon on the subject of "Pennsylvania Week."

"Pennsylvania is a marvelous various state," Hoeflich said, "and it is unique in that two out of the 10 largest cities in the nation are within its borders, even though 52 per cent of its total area is still in woodland."

"Founded on religious tolerance, it was actually the birthplace of our nation and the keystone of the early colonies."

"But even though it is both an industrial and agricultural leader, we must still set our state since 44 out of the 48 states are conducting active campaigns to attract."

Find Lifeless Body of Robert Richard Clipner

Neighbors last evening found the lifeless body of Robert Richard Clipner, 78, on the floor in his home at Ford road and West avenue, Bristol township. The discovery was made when neighbors became anxious for Clipner, when they had not seen him about nine o'clock in the morning. Death is attributed to a heart attack, and it is believed he had been dead since early in the day.

Mr. Clipner, husband of the late Catherine Clipner, resided there for 12 years. He has a daughter, Mrs. William Mayer, and a son, Cornelius, both of Philadelphia, surviving, as well as two grandchildren.

The deceased, a Spanish-American War veteran, had served in the U. S. Marine Corps for five years.

The body was removed to the funeral home of John C. Black.

Chemist for Publishing Firm Will Be Buried

NEWTOWN, Oct. 20.—Death claimed Roy E. Coleman, husband of Sarah H. Coleman, at his home on Swamp road, Tuesday. He was 62 years of age. Mr. Coleman was a chemist for Time and Life magazines.

Service will be at two o'clock tomorrow at Meriden, Conn. Interment will be in Walnut Grove Cemetery, Meriden.

The survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Helen Berman, Newtown R. D.; a son, Edward, of New York, N. Y.; brother, Lewis G. Coleman, Detroit, Mich.; four grandsons.

SACRED CATTLE ROAMED HILLS

Mrs. Albert L. Hood, New Hope, Relates Some Interesting Facts

NEIGHBORS COMPLAIN

NEW HOPE, Oct. 20.—The sacred cattle of India once wandered around in the hills near New Hope—but the only thing the neighbors did was complain.

Mrs. Albert L. Hood, of "Springdale," told the members of the Bucks County Historical Society that one of the earlier residents at the home had a herd of humpbacked Juma Paharee cattle, the sacred breed of India. The residents of the area, however, instead of being impressed, complained frequently when the bull broke loose and roamed around the countryside.

Mr. and Mrs. Hood were hosts to the fall meeting of the society, which was held in their home. In her welcome to the guests—after being introduced by President Edward R. Barnsley of Newtown—Mrs. Hood spoke on "Springdale, Today and Yesterday."

She said that the land on which "Springdale" stands was part of a grant made by William Penn to Robert Heath in 1681. Heath built a grist mill on the site in 1702.

The first part of the house was built in 1770, Mrs. Hood said. Then in 1812, Robert Maras, an ancestor of Mr. Hood, added another wing to the house.

Dr. Charles Huffnagle added the west wing in 1838 and it was then about the same size as it is today.

It was Dr. Huffnagle who brought the sacred cows to New Hope, Mrs. Hood explained. The doctor was appointed American consul to India and went to Calcutta when the people in that country were plagued with cholera.

He spent several years in India aiding to check the disease, and when he returned to "Springdale" he brought the cows.

FISH FROM FERTILIZER

At Solomons, Md., the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory operates a little artificial pond, four feet deep, stocked last May with several thousand shad fry about a quarter inch long. Now these babies are more than four inches long and still growing an inch a month.

It's what makes 'em grow that's fascinating: Ordinary farm fertilizer of the 6-8-4 ratio. That means percentages of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash, in that order.

It's just as simple to fertilize water as soil. In water these chemicals dissolve and make food for "plankton," the microscopic life that forms the basic food for all fish. Shad and similar fish eat it. Bigger fish eat smaller fish that have fed on plankton.

Next month the shad pond will be drained and the fingerlings tagged and released into the Patuxent River, a famous shad-fishing stream of the Western Shore of the Chesapeake. The laboratory feels these fingerlings will have a much better chance than the tiny fry would have. Many of them will live to go to sea and return several years from now as fine big shad to add to the nation's food supply.

The tags will show whether any of the fish will be caught in other streams. Very few of them will be, for the shad has a powerful homing instinct bringing it back to breed where it was hatched.

ADVICE TO GIANT

"O it is excellent to have a giant's strength," Shakespeare has written, "but it is tyrannous to use it like a giant." This is a doctrine that has rarely carried much appeal for the high brass. Russia's present leaders would consider it pure nonsense.

It is therefore most heartening to observe present-day American military men giving their own paraphrases of Shakespeare's warning. They see a new military budget that will give America a giant's strength. They know the nation must have that strength to defend itself against the Russian giant.

But these old war horses do not scent the battle cry, "Ha, ha!" They are uneasy lest Americans jump to the conclusion that military power is enough.

General Eisenhower warns that an America relying on military power alone would become a "corpse in armor." Even America's military potential, he says, is not a matter of arms and troops alone, but of farms and factories and transport and science and invention and a way of life.

General Eisenhower also implies that freedom cannot survive much more war. Already most of the world is having a hard struggle overcoming the destruction of war and the despair that is its aftermath. Unless America, in building its gigantic strength, can develop gigantic wisdom and moral force to match, the outlook is well nigh hopeless.

CHURCHES FEATURE OUTSTANDING EVENTS AT SERVICES FOR SUNDAY AND FOLLOWING WEEK

"FOR GOOD OR EVIL" IS TITLE OF FILM FOR PENNDEL CHURCH
Richard O. Scherch, student at Mt. Airy Seminary, Phila., will conduct the service and preach the sermon in Redeemer Lutheran Church, Pennel, Sunday at 9:15 a. m.

On Tuesday the stewardship department of the United Lutheran Church will show a film entitled "For Good or Evil." Henry Endress, head of the department, reports it is the first religious motion picture completely filmed with sound on location. It was photographed at Arendtsville, a rural church setting. All scenes were filmed and recorded in the streets, homes, church, hospital bank and farms of Arendtsville and Gettysburg. The subject of "For Good or Evil" is money. It answers the questions, what is money? What are some attitudes toward it? What is the Christian conception of money? What is the Christian use of money?

Republican Women Hear Candidates Discuss Issues

also warned her listeners that we are "three-fourths on the way to Socialism, but that we can put a crimp in this by voting the right way in November."

State Senator Edward B. Watson, a candidate for re-election, told the ladies that in his opinion "the women are facing the most important election in all the history of the Council."

"You either want or do not want what's going on in Washington today, there is no place of an independent," Senator Watson declared. "The one-party system has ruined every country in the world where it has been tried."

He called attention to the fact that after January 1, Federal taxes will be increased and that county and State taxes will also have to be boosted as a result of conditions today.

"Business will be good but taxes will take one-half the normal profits," Senator Watson declared. "You must also remember that every young man will have to serve in the military service for training purposes, and that another half-million workers will be taken on the Federal payroll. The controls are going to be staggering." He expressed the opinion that "never will General MacArthur see eye-to-eye with President Truman."

"This is no time for personalities; we must work hard between now and election day and get out every Republican vote possible," he added.

The flying boxcars left Japan at 4 p. m. Thursday (2 a. m. EST Thursday) for Kimpo where the crewmen slept in the planes overnight awaiting the take off.

The paratroop regiment, commanded by Col. William Bowen, had its first combat in the Korean war around Seoul. The troops were landed in planes at that time and did not parachute.

In addition to the flying boxcars, other planes including C-54s and C-46s—all part of Maj. Gen. William Tunner's 314th Transport Wing—took part in the airborne operation and dropped supplies of food, water and ammunition to the paratroopers.

The 187th Regiment of the 11th Airborne Division carried out the dramatic operation. About 4,100 paratroopers, fully equipped for infantry action were dropped at a point 25 miles north of Pyongyang, North Korean capital which is now in United Nations hands.

General MacArthur declared that the objective of the move is to seal escape routes to the north. One group of paratroopers dropped on flat land near Sukchon 25 miles due north of Pyongyang and 12 miles due south of Sinanju.

Another group was dropped near Sukchon, 16 miles east of Sukchon. The paratroopers were ordered to cut the double-tracked railway north from Pyongyang. This line goes through Sukchon and leads to Sinanju and the Yalu river bridge to Tantung in Communist China's Manchuria.

Another objective was a single-track line running from Pyongyang through Sukchon and northeastward to the Yalu river at Manpjin just across the river from the White Mountain colony of Koreans in Manchuria.

MacArthur, explaining his reasons for the airborne operation, said he is determined to prevent any Red bigwigs from escaping into Manchuria and directing guerrilla warfare against UN forces in Korea from there.

The supreme United Nations commander expressed confidence that the Reds do not have much military power north of Pyongyang at the present moment. He said, however, that without the mass jump, the Communists might have had the opportunity to regroup for another stand in three or four days.

The unexpected jump into North Korea was made on the sixth anniversary of MacArthur's landing at Leyte in the Philippines during World War Two.

The 11th Airborne is the same unit that made a jump into Nadzab, New Guinea, under personal direction of MacArthur from the air earlier in the last world conflict.

MacArthur's latest stroke exemplifies his ability to utilize every weapon and technique which Americans have developed. It symbolized one of his greatest victories—for on October 29 six years ago he made good his pledge to return to the Philippines.

There was a family tinge to the operation in North Korea too. Col. Bill Bowen, commanding the 187th Regiment, is an old friend of MacArthur who explained:

"His father went to West Point with me."

Bowen was with Gen. Robert brought with him scores of gifts from the natives.

The most unusual gift, Mrs. Hood said, was a herd of the cattle which was shipped to the New Hope home. Dr. Huffnagle tried to breed the cattle, but had very little success. Several half-breeds prospered, but finally the entire herd died off.

Dr. Huffnagle opened a museum at the home to house his many Indian curios. This museum was open to the public every Tuesday.

After Dr. Huffnagle's death in 1860, the family moved to Philadelphia and left the building to deteriorate until Albert Rosenthal, a noted artist, bought the place about 20 years later.

Mr. Rosenthal spent a good deal of money restoring the home, and lived there until his death. The Hoods purchased "Springdale" in 1941.

Dr. Huffnagle's collection of Indian curios was sold in Philadelphia by auctioneer Stan V. Henkels in 1885. Mrs. Hood said, in a sale that took three days. Many of the items were bought by the late Col. Henry D. Paxson, and some are now in the Mercer Museum of the Bucks County Historical Society.

Mrs. Hood is currently making a series of stair pads in needlepoint depicting the history of "Springdale."

Dr. Arthur E. Hye, of Holiconk, chairman of the society's program committee, introduced George Nakashima, of New Hope, who spoke on "Contemporary Furniture and Handicraft."

Mr. Nakashima illustrated his talk with several pieces of hand-made furniture, and said that furniture made in small factories, without assembly line techniques, is better than mass-produced pieces.

Mr. and Mrs. Hood served refreshments during an enjoyable social hour.

At a brief business meeting the following new members were elected: J. D. Datesman, Wrightstown; Robert E. McClean, Flourtown; Elmer C. Cates, Doylestown; Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Ermentrout, Southampton; Samuel Gaylord Payne, Denver, Col.; Mrs. Edward Paxson, Solebury; William Chapman, New Hope; William C. Partsch, Doylestown; Miss Emily H. pressed his belief that there will be a profound change inside Russia. "Every dictator has sooner or later met with civil war. There must be a tension inside Russia where 12 million are kept inside concentration camps. No totalitarianism can crush freedom of the human spirit."

Mrs. Horace Townsend was the speaker of the day. She reminded of Pennsylvania Week events and United Nations day. She told of the origin of the U. N. flag. Miss Marian Longshore asked all to read the preamble to the U. N. charter. At the meeting on November 2nd, Dr. Genevieve Bowen, of the office of Bucks Co. superintendent of schools, will speak on "The Changing Scene in Education."

St. Mary's Hall

BURLINGTON, Oct. 20—St. Mary's Hall is to be well represented at the National Conference on Religion in Education to be held at the Hotel Dennis, Atlantic City, this week-end. Miss Florence Lukens Newbold, the school's headmistress will lead the delegation consisting of three members of her faculty: Miss Eleanor E. Sandt, academic director; Mrs. Eleanor Sibley Riley, librarian and teacher of remedial reading; and Miss Rachel W. Walker, religious studies and mathematics. Tomorrow other members will attend for that day's sessions as will Barbara Armstrong of Christiansted, Virgin Islands, a senior, who will participate in the conference by presenting the students' attitude and views on religion as it is being taught and presented in our church schools today.

Saturday evening Dr. Harry P. Van Walt noted lecturer, psychologist, journalist and author will lecture on Current Events. This lecture is open to the public free of charge.

At Evensong on Sunday, Sister Helen of the Episcopal order of Sisters of the Holy Nativity will conduct the services in the chapel. Sister Helen, who is in residence at St. Clements Home, Philadelphia.

was one of the instructors last June at the summer school for girls from every parish in the diocese who were holding their annual session at St. Mary's.

Sunday, October 15, was parents visiting day at the school, with tea served in the late afternoon. Many parents remained for evensong when the Very Rev. Frederic M. Adams, Dean of Trinity Cathedral at Trenton was the preacher.

The fall choral service will be sung at Evensong. The Magnificat will be chanted to the Anglican Chant "Rembault," and the Offertory will be the two part Anthem.

"Father Most Merciful" written to the tune of Panis Angelicus, the beautiful theme taken from Cesar Franck's "D Minor" Symphony and used so often for a setting of liturgical music.

George School

GEORGE SCHOOL, Oct. 20—Parent Martin Vorhaus of Lamberville led a thorough investigation by nearly 300 fellow Dads and Moms into the George School curriculum on Saturday to highlight a fall parents' day program at that school which also included open house in the dormitories and interscholastic games in football and soccer.

Dr. Vorhaus moderated a panel discussion on what the school was doing academically for George School students. He introduced three faculty members and two parents as other discussion leaders—Lucille Pollock, Ambrose Short and Paul Blenshard, Jr., for the faculty, and Mrs. William Barton and Mrs. E. C. Franco-Ferreira.

"The school's sequence system is designed, insofar as possible, to give the student continuous training for three years in a special subject field," Miss Pollock said in the principal panel speech, "but also to show him how the fields of learning are related so that he'll have an all-around cultural preparation for life."

Following the panel talks and a question and answer period, visiting parents divided into smaller groups to consult like numbers of the George School faculty on what the various school departments were offering their children.

The informational program was something new at George School, and will be followed up with another such meeting next spring to go over with parents the total effect of all factors in life at the Friends school upon present students.

Coach Frank Brown's football team was overpowered on the home field later in the afternoon.

19-0, by a hard-charging Germantown Academy team whose offensive specialties were delayed reverses and seldom-used but effective passes. Wilson of the visitors tossed one 30-yard pass for the first touchdown and shot off tackle for another, with Germantown's Bunsicker recording the other score via a fast-quarter aerial to Lassen. It brought the Georgian record to one and one. They journeyed to Friends Central this Friday.

Over at Lawrenceville School, Dick Packer of Newtown paced the Georgian booters to a 3-2 win to keep their 1950 record unblemished. Coach Talbot's boys were slated to meet Moorestown Friends, away, on Tuesday, and Haverford School at home on Saturday.

The George School hockey team bowed 3-1 at Westtown School.

BENSALEM AND PENNSBURG WILL BATTLE FOR FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 20.—The battle for first place in the Lower Bucks County League will take place here tomorrow as the Bensalem Owls meet the Pennsbury Falcons. The game will be played on the Street road field, above Hulmeville road, starting at two o'clock.

Bensalem has won its two games of the Lower Bucks circuit. Pennsbury has also captured two tilts and has also played a tied game, giving it a one-point lead over the defending champions.

Coach Marlon VanHorn is depending on his fine aerial bombardment to clip the wings of the Falcons. His quartet of backfield aces, Johnny Bowman, Al Bader, Bernie Brozyna, and Bob Whitfield, can toss passes with the greatest of

To Form Dart League

The Bristol Clubmen's Association

indoor winter program will get underway for the coming season

Sunday afternoon, when the managers of the dart and shuffleboard teams meet at the home of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at 1 p. m.

A shuffleboard league will be inaugurated this year, because of the keen interest in the sport and a request by the local organizations for this type of activity.

The dart league will in general consist of the same teams that played last season. To date the following organizations have entered this league: No. 1 Fire Co., No. 3

Fire Co., Clinton J. Lewis Lodge,

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Loyal

Order of Moose, Sons of Italy, and the Mutual Aid Society. It will be remembered that the Mutual Aid

Society captured the trophy last year as it went through the season undefeated. It is expected this season that some of the best players in the Bristol vicinity will enter the competition.

Local organizations in this area interested in entering either of these two leagues are invited to be present at the meeting.

SUBURBAN NEWS

NEWTOWN

At the Sunday morning service in Newtown Presbyterian Church, Jeffrey, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Carleton, received the sacrament of baptism. Dr. John E. Mertz, pastor, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Carleton entertained at dinner on Sunday: Watson T. Hillborn, Miss Edna Hillborn, Mrs. Miriam Vandegrift and Dr. A. J. Strathie.

The Gleaners Sunday School Class of Newtown Methodist Church will hold a meeting at the home of the Misses Lydia and Grace Krusen, Tuesday evening. The speaker will be Mrs. Carl Hammerly, Easton, her topic being "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgotten." Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. William Gantz.

Newtown Township Parent-Teacher Association members will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fuges, Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. for a covered dish supper, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Gallagher, teacher at West School, who is leaving to return to her former home at Pittston. William B. Shull will conduct a short business session.

Harry G. Kerr on Friday retired from his position with the Gould-National Batteries, Inc., Trenton, N. J., after 31 years there. Mr. Kerr intends to pursue his hobbies of gardening and machine shop work, and continue experiments along the inventive lines.

Family Dinner Participated In by Women's Bible Class

The Women's Bible Class of St. James Episcopal Church, taught by Miss Jane Rogers, held a family dinner on Tuesday evening in St. James parish house with 70 attending. The menu consisted of tomato juice, roast beef, mashed potatoes, peas and carrots, cole slaw, rolls, butter, coffee, tea, ice cream and cookies. The dinner was prepared and served by the Mothers Guild.

The program included: Invocation, the Rev. George E. Boswell; solo, "Bless This House," Mrs. Ralph Hart; welcome, Mrs. C. Rush, president; remarks by the Rev. Mr. Boswell, John Spencer, Mrs. Rush and Miss Jane Rogers. New officers were introduced as follows: Mrs. C. Rush, president; Miss Jane Rogers, vice-president; Mrs. Roland Webb, secretary, and Mrs. Milton Miller, Jr., treasurer. Also participating in the program was Mrs. Doris Penkethman, representative of Philadelphia Dairy Council. Flowers were used for decorative purposes.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Harold C. Koch, S.T.M.
Pastor

The problems of life would distress us less if we were more aware of the value of eternal things, so often neglected while we strive for things that pass away. "May it be thy ministry, O God, to everybody's heart . . . to make heavenly things apparent, and to make earthly things seem to be of not so high value as heavenly matters. Not that we would have thee depress our stocktaking in this world, but to enhance our stocktaking in the world to come; And may we have such love to God and men as is befitting people who are to live with God and men forever. This is our prayer unto Thee, in the Holy Name of Christ. Amen." (Bishop Wm. Quayle, Methodist)

McLaine, Philadelphia; Pfc. George Fraser, Governors Island, N. Y. Raymond Hannon, of Lewistown, arrived on Sunday to spend a week with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser.

THOSE WE SERVE AND THEIR NEEDS

When one of our patrons speaks of getting good service from this bank, what does he mean?

He means that our officers took the time necessary to give him as nearly as possible the type of banking co-operation he needed.

That sounds simple enough. It is simple. But we could not do our best if we did not feel that we are daily performing a really helpful service for those who come to this bank.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Quantity unknown... the Pennsylvania Fish Commission stocked the Canal, Silver Lake and Maple Beach on Wednesday morning, but because of a slip-up in arrangements, Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association representatives were not on hand to assist. Catfish and sunfish were the species stocked.

Meeting... the October meeting of the Edgely Rod & Gun Club is scheduled for Tuesday, the 24th, at 8 p. m. in the meeting room of the Edgely Community Building. President Roy Stackhouse asks all members to be on hand, and all interested sportsmen have a cordial invitation to attend. The Edgely Club is also holding a blue-rock target shoot this Sunday, October 22nd, beginning at 1 P. M. All shooters are welcome.

About conservation... Wallace Byron Grange, author of the widely accepted book, "The Way To Game Abundance," made the following observations in the concluding chapter of his work:

"Conservation is the science of man's successful living in relation to nature and her resources. We are not a thing apart, a species apart. Our habitat on earth includes the soil, the forest, the mountain, the farm, the predator and our game species. Man knows the technology of abundance if he will only apply it. Man can be wasteful, destructive, foolish, heedless of the consequences of his acts and so despoil his own habitat. Temporarily he can ignore erosion, uncontrolled forest fire, depletion of soil fertility, extermination of valuable species and unique plant patterns, pollution and the loss of his birthright as a creature of nature. But he can do this only so long. Eventually the penalties of habitat deterioration must be paid by the human species, as by every other animal species.

"It is not alone the primeval wilderness we need. Closer home, we need the semi-wilderness, the commercial forest, the lake cottage in the woods, the farm woodlot, the fence-row thicket, the undrained marsh, the tiny pond and the sound of water tinkling over the beaver dam. The way to game abundance lies in preserving, creating and expanding the units of native vegetation which are, as we have seen, wilderness fragments. Their restoration can give us a more beautiful, more pleasant, more productive and more satisfying America."

Fishing lures... one of the interesting subjects discussed among the fishing fraternity is, what type of fishing lure is most popular, so during 1949 the Pennsylvania Fish Commission decided to find out just what percentage of the different type fishermen are on the streams of the Commonwealth.

The survey was conducted during the 1949 trout season, and the state fish wardens who conducted the investigation talked with 29,196 anglers whom they found actually fishing on the streams. Examination by the wardens revealed that the anglers interviewed had on their hooks or in their possession at the time of the examination the following bait: 59% were using worms; 5% were using fish bait (hellegramites, etc.); 10% were using live bait (live minnows, etc.); and the balance of 26% were using artificial lures (flies, spinners, spoons, etc.).

Deer damage... other than giving the reasons for the 1950 deer seasons as set, Game Commission representatives have maintained a hands-off policy wherever hunters have expressed opposition to these seasons. This does not mean, however, that the Commission has turned a deaf ear to the appeals and less publicized comments of farmers who suffer crop damage from deer. The following is part of a letter written to the Commission last month:

"The deer are too plentiful in my farming area and others also. The farmers around here have had acres of buckwheat almost totally destroyed in the past few years by deer. I have not put any out for the past two years on this account. I had in the neighborhood of 40 bushels of corn totally destroyed last year and do not know yet what the total will be this year. I also had an acre of wheat totally destroyed last year by deer and 2 acres of clover hay. This area is too much overpopulated by deer at the present time and I would like to ask a favor of you to trap them and ship them out."

Not too good... the current duck season, now a week old, has seen very few kills, according to the reports coming to my attention. Some local birds, and quite a few wood ducks have provided the bags to present. Warm weather has hindered the movement of flight birds, and our season will probably be over by the time good shooting does predominate in this area.

TILLEY'S GOAL IN 2ND HALF WINS FOR BENSLEM

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 20—"Peanut" Tilley's goal in the second half gave Bensalem Township another 1-0 victory yesterday as the Owlettes beat Pennsbury High in a Lower Bucks County Girls' Hockey League game.

Last week it was Tilley's goal which enabled the Bensalem girls to nose out Neshaminy, 1-0. Bensalem now has won two games and lost one, beating beaten by Council Rock in its opening game.

Immediately after the winning goal, Pennsbury had two scoring opportunities but failed. During the first half and most of the second half, the Cornwells Heights team had the ball in Pennsbury's territory but it wasn't until Tilley took a pass from Doris Plunkett that the ball was hit past the goalie into the cage.

Line-ups:
Bensalem (1) (0) Pennsbury
R. Donker L. W. C. Quillen
E. Witzel L. L. L. Boos
D. Tilley C. F. M. Foster
M. Cobleigh R. L. G. Carver

WARRIORS WILL SEEK SECOND LEAGUE VICTORY

Bristol High will seek its second Lower Bucks County League victory tonight when it meets Southampton High in the annual "Mom and Dad's" game on the local gridiron. Opening kickoff will take place at 8:30 o'clock.

The mothers and fathers of the varsity players of the Bristol High team will be guests of the Bristol high athletic association and will be seated in the reserve section of the bleachers.

Coach Harry McClister, of the Warriors, has announced that Halston Hedrick will start at one of the end positions. Hedrick was one of the starting ends at the beginning of the season but was replaced by Dick Puchino last week. He has again won his starting post.

McClister also lost Frank Rubino during the week. Rubino, a lineman, bolstered the forward wall against Council Rock but an illness may prevent him from playing the balance of the season.

The Bristol high mentor has been drilling his boys all week on defensive plays labelled to stop the high-scoring "Sonny" Peak, of the Greyhounds. It was the fleet-footed Peak that pulled Southampton from behind in both the Morrisville and Pennsbury games and enabled Coach Claude Lodge's team to finish with tie scores. He also set up the touchdown that gave the Southies a triumph over St. Francis.

Bristol looked its best in several seasons as it easily toppled Council Rock last week. The Warriors now have the driving spirit and are determined to go through the remainder of the schedule undefeated. They intend to start with Southampton tonight.

Bristol has already lost a league game and practically must win its remaining games to finish on top. Pennsbury and Southampton are unbeaten in league competition but both have been tied. Pennsbury must still play Bensalem, Council Rock, and Morrisville.

An important Lower Bucks County League contest is scheduled for this evening on Playwick field.

Langhorne, as the Neshaminy High eleven goes after its third straight win. It meets Council Rock with the opening kickoff scheduled for 8:15 o'clock.

Coach "Jim" Egli's team started the season by losing its first two tilts but since then has come back strong to erase both Jenkintown and Lower Moreland.

Council Rock, coached by Dominick Sagolla, was trounced by Bristol last week and hopes to rebound against the Redskins.
